VOLUME XVI, NUMBER 140 — LA CROSSE, WISCONSIN, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1920 — PRICE THREE CENTS

BADGER STATE RETAINS RANK AS THIRTEENTH

Rate of Growth in Wisconsin is 12.8 Per Cent, the Same as During Last Census Period

MISSISSIPPI SECOND STATE SHOWING POPULATION LOSS

Decrease of Eight Thousand is Announced Today

Wisconsin, 2,631,839; increase 297,979, or 12.8 per cent.
Milwaukee county, Wisconsin, containing Milwaukee, 539,469, increase 100,282, or 24.5 per per cent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Mississippi is the second state to show a decrease in population in the 1920 census. Its population of 1,789,182 announced today by the census bureau is 7,982, or 0.4 per cent less than that of ten years ago. Vermont was the first state to show a decrease, its 1920 population being one per cent less than ten years ago.

The 1920 populations of Oklahoma, Wisconsin and South Dakota also were announced today and each state showed a substantial increase. Oklahoma had the greatest increase, its population of 2,027,561 being 370,400 or 22.4 per cent greater than that in 1910. This, however, was the smallest numerical and relative increase shown by Oklahoma since its organization as a territory in 1890.

Wisconsin's population is 2,631,839, an increase of 297,979 or 12.8 per cent as compared with that of 1910. The state retains its present rank as thirteenth most populous state. Its relative increase for the last ten years was the same as that during the previous decade.

In 1910 the population of Wisconsin was 2,333,860, ranking it as 13th most populous state in the Union. It showed an increase of 266,818, or 12.8 per cent, in that decade, the smallest rate of growth in its history prior to that time.

Wisconsin was organized as a territory in 1836 and appears in the federal census reports for the first time in 1840, when its had a population of 30,945 and ranked as 30th among the states and territories. In 1890, Wisconsin ranked as 25th state in 1910 with 55,256 square miles of land, making its population per square mile 42.2.

Heavy Gains in Early Days

During the 20 years from 1840 to 1860 Wisconsin's population increased very rapidly, multiplying almost ten times during the first ten years of the period and more than doubling in the second 10 years. During the 40 years from 1860 to 1910 the population of the state showed a substantial increase at each census, though at a much slower rate than during the preceding 20-year period, and with one exception, at a steadily decreasing rate. The percentage of increase fell below 20 only during the decade ending with 1910.

Comparison of the rates of increase for the state with those for the United States shows that there were only two decades prior to 1920 in which the rate of increase for the

SENATOR CRANE DIES AT BAY STATE HOME AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Death Comes to Former Massachusetts Solon After Four Days of Heavy Sleep

COLLAPSED AT COOLIDGE NOTIFICATION CEREMONIES

Made Strong Fight for League Endorsement at Chicago

DALTON, Mass., Oct. 2.— W. Murray Crane former United States senator and for years a power in the republican party, died early today at "Sugar Hill," the family home.

The end came quietly, after four days of heavy sleep, almost of unconsciousness. The sleeping sickness had set in after an illness of several months and it was this which immediately preceded death, the actual cause of which was said by his physicians to be encephalitis, or inflammation of the brain. At his bedside were his wife, his son, W. Murray Crane, Jr., and two sisters.

CRANE

National politics, in which Senator Crane had been an active figure for years were closely connected with his illness. The Senator, who had been national committeeman of the republican party in Massachusetts for years announced his retirement before the national convention, but went to Chicago to fight for republican endorsement of the league of nations.

Collapse Came in July

He emerged from semi-retirement next to attend the exercises at Northampton July 27, the formal notification to Governor Coolidge, of nomination for the vice-presidency. His health was not equal to the double exactions of a torrid sun, and fatigue of long standing, and he suffered a collapse.

The Senator rallied but failed again several weeks ago and it was feared the end was near. The vitality which carried him through years of work without vacation, asserted itself, and again it appeared he was to recover.

Within the last week, heart action became weak and long spells of drowsiness were succeeded by heavy sleep. He appeared to rally at times but finally lapsed into partial coma, ended by death.

The former senator's wife, his son, Winthrop Murray Crane, Jr. and his two sisters, Miss Clara L. Crane and Mrs. Harry O. Bates, were at his bedside when the end came.

Never Made a Speech

An outstanding characteristic of Winthrop Murray Crane, former Governor of Massachusetts and for two terms a United States Senator from that state, was the fact that he attained eminence in public life without being an orator. Although he served eight years in the Senate it was said of him that he never made what really could be called a "speech" in that body. The successor of Senator Hoar, whose wit and eloquence rang through the halls of Congress, Crane's chief claim to distinction was that of silent leadership and of a party mediator.

Born in Dalton, Mass., April 23, 1853, the son of Zenas M. Crane, a paper manufacturer, young Crane was educated in the public schools and at Williston Seminary. He never attended college but after leaving the seminary, entered the paper mills founded by his grandfather at Dalton and in them he maintained an interest throughout his life. For many years these mills produced the paper used by the United States government in engraving its currency, bonds and notes. Because of his interest in this industry and his desire to continue with it, Mr. Crane, at the beginning of President Roosevelt's administration, declined an invitation to enter his cabinet as Secretary of the Treasury.

Aided Strike Settlement

President Roosevelt held the "Silent" Massachusetts man in great esteem, and it was Crane, it is said, who later suggested to the president the method by which the strike of several hundred thousand coal miners in the anthracite fields was settled.

Three years as Lieutenant Governor and three years as Governor of Massachusetts preceded Crane's entrance into the Senate to fill the vacancy in 1904 caused by the death of George F. Hoar. Appointed to the Senate on October 12, 1904, he was elected the following January for the term ending in 1907 and re-elected for the term ending in 1913. At the expiration of his second term he declined to seek renomination. Mr. Crane had been a member of the Republican National Committee from 1892 to 1900 and again from 1904 to 1920. He was a delegate-at-large to six national conventions. At the last Republican National convention in Chicago, he was one of the group that consolidated the delegates when they appeared hopelessly deadlocked and brought about the nomination of Senator Harding. Mr. Crane was a strong advocate of a League of Nations.

MAKE FINAL EFFORT TO GET MACSWINEY TO TAKE FOOD TODAY

LONDON, Oct. 2.—What is described as a "final appeal" to Terence MacSwiney to accept food was made by a doctor in Brixton prison today, according to a bulletin issued by the Irish Self-Determination league on the conditions of hunger-striking lord mayor of Cork. The league's bulletin read:

"The condition of Lord Mayor MacSwiney remains virtually unchanged. The doctor warned the mayor this morning that he was sinking fast and made a final appeal to him to take food. The mayor refused, saying his mind had been definitely made up from the beginning and that his decision was irrevocable."

This was the fifty-first day of Mayor MacSwiney's hunger strike.

THOMPSON PAPERS AS INDEPENDENT ON FILE TONIGHT?

Railroad Workers Said to be Obtaining Necessary 1,000 Names to Petition

FIVE DAYS ALLOWED THEN FOR CANDIDATE'S CHOICE

Must Notify Secretary of State Whether He Will Run

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Interest in political circles centers around the secretary of state's office where it is expected that late Saturday nomination papers will be filed for James Thompson for independent candidate for United States senator. The secretary of state's office had had no direct communication regarding the filing of papers. It is expected, however, that they will be brought to the office Saturday evening. Papers received before midnight on Saturday will be filed.

Five Days to Decide

Under the law it requires the filing of at least 1,000 names on nomination papers to place a name on the ballot. Information is that the railway workers have taken charge of the obtaining of signatures for Mr. Thompson. When they have received these names they expect to notify Mr. Thompson that they have filed them and he will have five days to decide as to whether he desires to become candidate for United States senator. By the terms of the law he is required to file a specific statement as to whether he will enter the race.

There are rumors that Roy P. Wilcox of Eau Claire may file as independent candidate for governor. No direct statement from Wilcox has been received on the matter although it is reported that Wilcox's papers have been in circulation in Milwaukee.

La Follette to Stump

The entrance of Thompson into the senatorial contest will make a three-cornered fight. Dr. Paul S. Reinsch, former minister to China, is the democratic nominee. Close friends of Senator La Follette say that in case Thompson decides to take the candidacy then the senator will take the stump and will deliver a number of speeches in important cities of the state.

TAG DAY BRINGS FLOOD OF COINS FOR GOOD CAUSE

Annual Event is Big Success With Thousands Contributing to Fund

WORKERS ARE STIMULATED BY IDEAL WEATHER TODAY

Believed that Large Sum Will be Realized for Visiting Nurse

Tag day was a big success.

At noon today the person in the down town district who did not wear a tag was so conspicuous as to attract attention.

"The response to the annual call for funds to support the visiting nurse was splendid," said F. H. Scofield. "We hope to realize as much as last year, when $2,000 was contributed, and if the donations continue to pour in the balance of the day as they did this morning, the amount realized will be even larger than in 1919. Citizens of La Crosse are keenly alive to the fact that the visiting nurse is one of the most effective agencies to promote good health in this community, and they give cheerfully and gladly to the fund."

Work of counting the money at the headquarters in the Y. W. C. A. will start at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and announcement will be made tonight of the result of the tag day drive.

Taggers in the down town district this morning reported that contributors were giving larger amounts than last year.

On the north side the workers ran out of tags in the middle of the morning and sent a hurry-up call for more card-boards. Over 150 women and girls and Boy Scouts are engaged in the campaign today.

A bright, warm autumn day furnished ideal weather conditions for the event, and added impetus to the campaign.

RAISE GAS RATES UNDER NEW ORDER ON SABBATH DAY

Supreme Court Turns Down Application for Repairing and New Schedule Starts

On and after tomorrow, October 3, patrons of the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company in La Crosse will pay $2.05 per 1,000 feet for gas, if less than 5,000 feet per month is used.

City Attorney Oscar J. Swenbes received word that the motion for a rehearing in the so-called emergency case in the supreme court was denied. This removes the last obstacle to the institution of the increased rates granted by the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin recently. These rates, which called for the payment of $2.05 per 1,000 for the first 5,000 feet, $1.90 for the next 5,000 feet, and $1.80 for all over 10,000 feet, will go into effect on Sunday, according to the order and official announcement of the company.

Gas rates in La Crosse have increased from $1.10 to $2.05 in less than two years. The last increase granted was from $1.65 to $2.05.

ROME, Oct. 2—Recognition of the Municipal Council of Fiume as the provincial government of the "quarnero regency" which was recently proclaimed by Captain Gabrielle d'Annunzio, is reported here.

NO PLOT TO FIX SERIES OF 1920 ASSERTS LEWIS

New York District Attorney Fails to Uncover Evidence of Crookedness in Connection With Games

NATIONAL LEAGUE PLAYERS TO TESTIFY ON MONDAY

Grand Jury Made Special Body to Continue Baseball Probe

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—District Attorney Lewis of King's county today issued a statement in which he declared investigation by his office had failed to disclose any plan to "fix" the 1920 world's series.

"My investigations have not disclosed a single suspicion that there has been any attempt to "fix" the coming series," said Mr. Lewis in his statement exonerating all members of the Brooklyn Nationals, a competitor in the series.

Continue Inquiry

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 2—The Cook county grand jury which has been conducting the investigation into the alleged "fixing" of the 1919 world series, today was made a special body to continue its work. The regular sessions of the grand jury were completed yesterday.

There was no session of the jury today, other than a perfunctory one to dispose of the formalities making it a special body. Testimony will be resumed Monday, and on Tuesday John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, Fred Toney, Giant pitcher, and Benny Kauff, former outfielder of the New York club, will take the stand to conclude the evidence relating to Heinie Zimmerman, Hal Chase and Lee Magee, National league players, who are alleged to have conspired to throw ball games during the 1919 season.

National Players to Appear

Kauff and Toney, it is understood, will testify that Zimmerman offered them $500 and $300 respectively to throw a game. They refused.

It is probable that the grand jury will delve into reports of dishonesty in the National pastime stretching back through more than a decade.

The present investigation, it was said, is hastening a plan which has been under discussion to put the control of the game under a national tribunal, composed of prominent men not connected with baseball, rather than to have it controlled by private interests. Four major league clubs, the Chicago White Sox, the Chicago Cubs, the New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Nationals have indorsed the plan and it was understood that the Boston Americans and National club owners also approved its adoption.

Sullivan to Bare Frame-Up

Reports received by officials from New York said that John J. "Sport" Sullivan, mentioned in the grand jury testimony here, had declared that there really was a "great master mind" behind the deal which involved the payment of money to White Sox players to "throw" the 1919 series.

"Within the next forty-eight hours I will be on my way to Chicago and when I get there I will tell the whole inside story of the frame-up," Sullivan is said to have declared.

Sullivan, who says he held several hundred thousand dollars in bets on the last world's series, is expected to arrive here Tuesday.

"They have made me the goat, and I'm not going to stand for it," he added. "I know the whole history of the deal, from beginning to end. I know the big man whose money it was that paid off the White Sox players—and I'm going to name him."

SHOE WORKERS UNION SIGNS WAGE AGREEMENT

LYNN, Mass., Oct. 2—Officers of the joint council of shoe workers today signed an agreement with manufacturers here continuing present wage and working conditions for nineteen months. Sixty-five manufacturers are party to the agreement, which affects all the unions affiliated with the United Shoeworkers of America. Resumption of work in plants partly or wholly closed since the former agreement expired recently is expected to begin within a few days.

OHIO MERCHANT CUTS PRICES ON CLOTHING

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 2—Advertisements of a well-known Youngstown men's clothing merchant today announced not only a reduction in the price of all suits and overcoats, but a refund to the same extent on overcoats already purchased at the store this season.

EMIL FRIEND

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 2—Emil Friend, well-known financial writer and connected for many years with Chicago papers, died today at a local sanitarium.

Mr. Friend had been in poor health for a considerable time and came to Milwaukee several days ago to seek relief.

POSSES FOLLOW HOUNDS ALL NIGHT IN PURSUIT OF GIRL'S ASSAILANT

R. G. KNUTSON OUT AS INDEPENDENT FOR STATE SENATOR

Alderman and Labor Leader Announces Self as Candidate Against Clark

LA FOLLETTE PROGRESSIVE PLATFORM TO BE HIS STAND

Says People Have No Chance to Vote on Issue

R. G. Knutson, city alderman and organizer for the La Crosse Trades & Labor Council this morning announced himself as an independent candidate for the state senate "standing squarely on the La Follette progressive republican state platform."

Friends of the La Crosse man late yesterday afternoon persuaded him to enter the race against Senator Eugene F. Clark, Galesville, who was unopposed for renomination as a Republican.

By rapid work, typewritten nomination papers were made out, circulated, the required number of signatures obtained and dispatched to Madison at noon today by special messenger. They must be filed with the secretary of state before midnight tonight to insure Mr. Knutson a place on the ballot.

In announcing himself this morning, Mr. Knutson said:

"Circumstances have shaped themselves so that in the coming general election the voters of the thirty-second district who so desired, would have no opportunity to vote for a candidate for the State Senate who represented and stood for the La Follette Progressive Republican principles, as represented in the La Follette Progressive Republican State Platform. Inasmuch as I believe that this election of all elections in this state, should be upon a matter of principles, rather than candidates, I have decided to favorably consider the petitions of LaFollette Progressive voters, and to become a candidate for the office of state senator for the 32nd district, standing squarely upon the LaFollette Republican State platform."

Verchota May Run

It was rumored this morning that Joseph J. Verchota, recently defeated for the assembly nomination in the first La Crosse district, might enter the field as an independent against Col. F. H. Fowler, the Republican nominee.

Mr. Verchota refused to discuss the proposition further than to admit that many had petitioned him to run and that friends had gone so far as to circulate nomination papers.

TRAIL LEADING SOUTH OF VIOLA TOWARD MUSCODA

Little Ruth Barkley, Victim of Fiendish Assault Will Recover, Doctors Say

SMALL INJURIES ARE FOUND UPON CLOSE EXAMINATION

Bloodhounds Lead Posses on Hot Trail This Morning

TRAIL IS LOST

LATE this afternoon posses which have been following the blood hounds on the trail of the assailant of Ruth Barkley near Viola reported that the dogs had definitely lost the scent in the midst of the Viola-Richland Center road, at a spot about five miles south of the scene of the attack.

It was believed to mean that after his cross-country flight followed by the hound yesterday and this morning, the man secured a lift from a passing automobile or wagon. It was believed that his course would probably have been toward Richland Center, but there is no report of any man having been seen in that neighborhood answering the description.

Authorities were completely at a loss, according to the Tribune and Leader-Press reporter on the spot. Unless the drag-net put out by the police and county officials all over the state gets the man in its net within the next few hours it is feared he will escape.

Bloodhounds leading the posse in pursuit of the assailant of Ruth Barkley south of Viola lost the trail again at noon today on a road ten miles from Viola. That the moron begged a ride in an automobile at that point, is the belief of Sheriff Stry.

The report that a man answering the description of the girl's assailant boarded a west bound train at Muscoda this morning was denied at noon. Sheriff Stry made a hurried auto trip to Muscoda and Richland Center and found no trace of the man in that part of Richland county.

Following a trail which led through cornfields and swamps, over hills and valleys and seldom came in sight of a main traveled road, a band of determined farmers and villagers, led by two bloodhounds, spent the night in the farming territory southeast of Viola in search of the black-bearded moron who assaulted and beat Ruth Barkley, thirteen-year-old daughter of Dayton Barkley, while on her way to school. Daybreak today found two posses, captained by District Attorney Elber Brindley and Sheriff Stry, following the hounds ten miles southeast of Viola and seven miles from the scene of the assault.

That Ruth Barkley, although struck on the head by her assailant is not seriously injured and will recover in a few days, is the word that comes from the bed-side this morning. Roy Bangsberg, a reporter for the Tribune and Leader-Press, who drove to Viola in a car shortly after word of the assault was received here, talked with the girl last night. He received assurance from the attending physician that the child was not badly injured by the blow which knocked her unconscious and that she will speedily recover. Last night and today the girl suffered from nervousness and fright.

Girl Tells Story

The little girl's story of the assault, as told to Mr. Bangsberg, was substantially as follows:

She left home shortly after 8 o'clock in the morning to go to school. Two neighbor children had come along the road a short time before and called to the Barkley children, Joe, Ruth's brother, went out and started to school with them. Ruth left the house five minutes later and walked alone toward the school.

About 25 rods from the school house a man sprang out of the weeds, skirting a culvert which crossed the road at that point and seized Ruth with both hands. The girl screamed, but no one at the school house heard her call. The man said "shut up. He hit me on the head with something and that's all I remember," said the child.

When she recovered consciousness she was some distance from the road and made her way in a dazed condition to the highway, where she again

U. S. NATIONAL DEBT REDUCED MORE THAN A QUARTER MILLION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The nation's gross debt was reduced by $237,315,995 in September, according to figures made public today by the treasury department.

Most of the reduction occurred in the floating debt or issues of certificates of indebtedness. Outstanding certificates now aggregate $2,347,791,000 which is included in the total gross debt of $24,087,356,000.

Government receipts for the month totalled $911,000,000, while expenditures fell below $500,000,000. This difference was explained as due to a decline in the demands for funds from the railroads under the guarantee provisions of the transportation act.

Officials said the same ratio between receipts and expenditures probably would not be maintained next month. They expect the railroads to come in for larger sums as they will have made a final accounting of profits and losses for the six months over which their earnings were guaranteed by the railroad law.

STRIKES SPREADING IN RUSSIA REPORTS COPENHAGEN WRITER

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 2—Reports that a strike movement is spreading in Russia, resulting in serious disturbances have been received by the National Tidende from its Helsingfors correspondent.

He declares travelers from Russia confirm reports that street conflicts had occurred in Petrograd, in which several soviet commissioners were killed.

Persistent rumors that Leon Trotzky, the war minister, had been wounded and that General Budenny, the cavalry leader, was being court-martialed, were in circulation, the travelers reported.

At a great mass meeting in Petrograd a resolution is declared to have been adopted in favor of immediate peace with the world.

dedicated the following poem to Abe Martin

KIN HUBBARD
Creator of Genial
ABE MARTIN

Pitends he's a Brown County Fixture—
A kind of comical mixture
Of hoss-sense and no sense at all:
His mouth, like his pipe, 's allus goin',
And his thoughts, like his whiskers, is flowin'—
And what he don't know ain't worth knowin'—
From Genesis clean to baseball!

The author, Kin Hubbard, 's so keerless
He draws Abe 'most eyeless and earless;
But he's never yit pictured him cheerless—
Er with fun 'at he tried to conceal—
Whuther onto the fence or clean over
A-rootin' up ragweed er clover,
Skeert stiff at some "Rambler" er "Rover"
Er new fangled automobeel.

It's a purty steep climate old Brown's in;
And the rains there his ducks nearly drowns in,
The old man fisse'f, wades his rounds in,
As ca'm and serene, mighty nigh,
As the old hands aw hawg, er the mottled
Milch-cow, er the old rooster wattled
Like the mumps had him 'most so well throttled
That it was a pleasure to die.

But best of 'em all's the fool-breaks 'at Abe don't see at all, and yit makes' at,
Both me and you-lays back and shakes at
His comic, miraculous cracks,
Which makes him—clean back of the power
Of genius itse'f in its flower—
This Notable Man of the Hour,
Abe Martin, the Joker on Facts.

Abe Martin will make his bow to the readers of the Tribune and Leader-Press on Monday's editorial page. Get acquainted!

POLITICAL IMPULSES

CAMPAIGNS are decided not by the cogencies of candidates, the close reasoning of editorial essayists, or the careful analysis of political platforms.

They are usually decided by the instincts and impulses of voters, which in many cases seem to defy rule and reason.

An interesting study of political psychology, not to say misinformation, is provided by an inquiry recently sent out by the Newspaper Enterprise association. A "socialist" was for Harding "because we need the League of Nations". A "progressive" was for Harding "and the league" because the "anti-League Irish are for Cox". A "Debs socialist" was for Harding "because we need a reactionary president". A "democrat" was for Harding "because the inefficient democratic uplifters will waste more than the republican efficiency crooks can steal". An "anti-socialist single taxer" was for Debs "because free speech is the greatest issue". A "radical" was against Cox "to kill the democratic party; Harding's election will kill the republican party."

With a thousand discontents growing out of war and post-bellum conditions, emotional voting makes for even greater incoherence than is customary. It is a year of "votes against" rather than "votes for", a time when men are mad rather than purposeful, impulsive rather than reasonable. Whether sound or not, bulk voting by economic and racial groups probably has less inconsistency, if more selfishness, than the hit-and-miss individualistic vote of the season. But one general trend is seen by following the straws in the wind—it is that for a wide variety of reasons in which consistency is far below par the "outs" have it. People are "out" with the democrats, and the party has no "cobbler" to "mend" them. Uncle Sam makes holiday to see Gamaliel and to rejoice in his triumph.

WELL-STOCKED CELLARS

WHEN grandfather and grandmother were young, cellars, at this time o' the year, began their annual habit of gathering in the sheaves. Only they weren't sheaves. They were turnips, potatoes, pumpkins. They were nuts, popcorn and cider. They were the winter's food supply.

But until within the year past, the cellar had gone quite out of fashion. One kept his fruit and vegetables in the grocer's cellar; his bacon and lard in the butcher's shop, and barely allotted to the cellar a ton or two of coal. Then, suddenly, folks renewed conversation about "well-stocked cellars." This had to do with drinkables, and was an aftermath of the 18th amendment.

Now comes the Department of Agriculture and exhorts the nation to "get the cellar habit." Meaning the storing of food in cellars—basements, if you will call 'em that—for the winter table.

By putting in your winter's supply in the fall you broaden the farmer's market. You compete with the commercial storage concerns. The result is a higher price for producers. Having the food in your cellar you decrease the demand for food later on. This creates a smaller market for the storage plant, and lower prices for those who cannot store any food in their cellars.

The "well-stocked cellar" should mean this winter what it meant in grandfather's time.

A BOLSHEVIK SPLIT

ANOTHER outbreak against the bolsheviki has occurred in Russia. It has been suppressed as have all the previous ones. But, despite the success of the bolsheviki in stifling uprisings against themselves, anti-soviet revolts continue.

Eventually, the counter-revolution will work its way, if the Russians are allowed to make peace with the world so that they can have time to study the inefficiency of the soviet system of government.

The most determined enemy of the bolsheviki in Europe was a former bolshevik himself. He is President Pilsudski, of Poland. Pilsudski was an associate of Lenine long before the war, when both fought against czarism. Pilsudski then was a communist and a direct actionist. The bomb was his weapon, as it was Lenine's. He and Lenine were expelled from Russia in 1905.

Pilsudski's hatred of the czar was even greater than Lenine's. For during the war, Pilsudski fought as a general in the Austrian army against Russia. After peace came, he returned to Poland and repudiated the soviet revolution which he and Lenine had worked to establish many years before. The responsibilities of his presidential office in Poland sobered him. He broke away from the Lenine influence and is now Lenine's bitterest foe.

So will the counter-revolution happen in Russia when the proper time comes. Since the bolsheviki seized the Russian government, their major responsibility has been to prevent alien enemies from conquering Russia. That is why Lenine has been allowed to continue his ineffective efforts to substitute class government for popular government.

But, let Russia have peace and the conditions confronting Lenine will change. He will then have to repudiate his own doctrines himself, or Pilsudski will arise within Russia to repudiate him and bring about the establishment of democratic rule.

"AMERICA FIRST"

THAT the slogan "America first" sounds to Europeans too much like the old German motto "Deutschland Uber Alles", is asserted by the Rev. Charles S. MacFarland, general secretary of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, who has just returned from a series of religious conferences in Switzerland and from a speaking tour covering the larger cities of western Europe.

"For an American to be in Europe at this time is humiliating and sometimes almost disheartening," said Dr. MacFarland. "I found the people there confused. They do not know what to make of America's present aloofness. It seems to them in sharp contrast to our former attitude during the war. Any expression of hope that America ultimately would assume her place in the League of Nations was received with tremendous enthusiasm and with evident satisfaction.

"The peoples of Europe, as a whole, are doing magnificently. They all are setting themselves industriously, seriously to their terrific problems of rebuilding and reconstructing.

"While, of course, their economic needs are very great, one of their greatest needs at the present moment is that of moral support and encouragement. They expected this from the great American nation. As they now look across the sea to us and find us engaged apparently in internal disputes, some of which appear to be rather unimportant matters, it looks to them like acting the part of Nero playing his fiddle while Rome burns."

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Tomorrow the Jews celebrate Rosh Hoshanah or New Year's day of the year 5671. On this day, according to the prevailing custom, the Jewish people will keep open house. Rabbi Roman of this city goes to Winona to conduct the services there.

The council committee on grounds and buildings will meet tomorrow to consider selling the old Second ward school building on Fourth and King to the Governor's Guard association for its activities.

Rudolph Kreutz, for six years director of Kreutz's La Crosse orchestra and band, leaves Wednesday for St. Paul to become a member of the St. Paul Symphony orchestra.

The E. G. Staats Regalia company of the north side has completed arrangements to move its factory to Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, as a result of negotiations with a committee sent here from there with the support that local citizens failed to give.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The M. I. Voight Electric company of this city has secured the contract to wire the newly erected court house at Crookston, Minn.

William F. Strauss shot a large fish eagle Sunday in the vicinity of Pammel's farm. The wings measured six feet when spread and the bird weighed six pounds. Professor Boom, who says the specimen is very rare, will mount it.

A number of young democrats at the high school hoisted the United States flag this morning in honor of William Jennings Bryan who is to speak here tonight. A body of republicans objected and lowered it to half mast. A scuffle ensued in which the republicans were worsted and the flag floated until sunset.

John Pamperin of the Pamperin and Wiggenhorn Cigar factory returned this morning from an extended visit to his old home in Germany. He also sojourned in Austria, France, Italy and Switzerland and while in Paris visited the exposition.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

There is much agitation on the question of erecting a building to house the Young Men's Christian association as it is outgrowing its present quarters on Main street.

Leigh Leslie, late of the Chicago Daily News, has accepted the position of city editor of the La Crosse Daily Press and will begin work tomorrow.

Superintendent McKenna of the La Crosse division of the Milwaukee road has been transferred to the Middle division and D. C. Cheney, former trainmaster, will take his place.

Scarlet fever is prevalent in the city to some extent.

WITCH HAZEL

BY CLARISSA MACKIE

Overhead the sunny California sky—in the foreground the sandy trail leading gradually up to the blue-green dimness of the mountains. All around him were the plain board bungalows of the town, blistering under the noon sun. The veranda of the store and post-office was crowded with men clad in flannel shirts and corduroy trousers—bronzed, weather-worn faces under broad hats—and a score of horses were tied at the long rail fence.

Jim Thornton saw none of these things; all he saw was a girl riding away on a tall black horse—a slim young thing in faded khaki with a sombrero puller over her red hair.

Nate Miller followed the glance and smiled sympathetically. "That's Hazel Deane," he murmured in a low tone. "you might meet her if you are going up the trail—her father's place is over on the upper trail—Little Boulder, they call it."

"Prospector?" asked Jim.

Nate nodded. "Found the real thing," he muttered. "Some say that it's the only real 'find' hereabouts. Most of those fellows," he nodded toward the noisy group on the veranda, "are cattle men—they don't bother with gold mining—too uncertain. Always excepting Pedro—see that greaser sneaking onto his horse—thinks no one sees him—always follows Hazel until she finds him and sends him back again like the coyote he is!"

Jim saw the slouching half-breed leap into the saddle and gain the trail by a wide detour behind a clump of trees. Then his little rat-tailed sorrel scurried along, hardly noticeable against the yellow sand of the trail. The newcomer started toward his own horse, but Nate stopped him.

"Pedro's only following to find out where the old man gets the gold," he explained. "Hazel don't need any help."

"I'm on my way now, anyhow," said Jim. "I'll follow Pedro and eventually reach Little Boulder. Perhaps Mr. Deane will help me in what I want to do."

"Go to it, son," said the other tersely, and as Jim mounted Nate examined the little pack burro, tightened the ropes that bound the load and then slapped the little beast on the flank as they rode away.

He gazed after them as they disappeared at the end of the trail, dipping into a gully that led into the hills. He whistled softly and smiled. "Gee! I forgot to warn him that Witch Hazel has a temper to match her red hair!"

Jim Thornton had not confided in Nate Miller that he had a letter of introduction to Henry Deane and that he was depending upon Hazel's father to help him out in his search for a cache of gold dust hidden by Grandfather Thornton in the days of '49.

While he had expected to enjoy the excursion into the mountains, the easterner had not counted on falling in love at first sight with a shabbily dressed, red-haired girl who had only thrown him a careless glance from green eyes fringed with long auburn lashes.

He was mounting the steeper places now, the air was cooler and there was a smell of pine and the hot smell of wild thyme. He paused to look down at the country sketched below—when he heard the sound of voices above him—a man's whining tone and the treble of a girl's voice.

Hazel Deane and the half-breed!

Jim urged his horse forward and in five minutes they burst upon a strange scene. Among the trees at one side of the trail was Hazel Deane, mounted on her tall horse, and backed against a huge boulder that jutted from the hill. She was gazing with blazing eyes and white face at Pedro who, crouched behind his little sorrel, was covering her with a gun.

"You tell me, senora, I let you go—just a word where gold is—"

"I'll tell you nothing!" cried the girl.

"I keel your horse—pronto!" The threat ended in a loud howl of pain as a bullet knocked the weapon out of his hand and grazed his knuckles in passing.

"You get out of here—pronto!" commanded Jim, riding into the opening. The half-breed mounted his sleepy horse and the two skulked out of sight and out of this story.

"Are you all right?" asked Jim, removing his hat.

She smiled and nodded. "Thanks to you. Pedro was drunk. He might have harmed me with that gun. I probably owe my safety to you. My father, Henry Deane, will thank you for me."

"I am on my way to Little Boulder," explained Jim. "I have a letter of introduction from Major Blake."

"Then you are Mr. Thornton—the major wrote to dad. We have been on the lookout for you." Hazel led the way up the mountain trail, turning to the right at a small rock, then turning again into a narrower trail that finally led to a green canyon, gay with flower gardens, where a waterfall rippled down a rocky incline and formed a tiny lake. An elderly man sat on the veranda of a white bungalow, and he jumped up when he saw them coming.

Half an hour later they were eating dinner prepared by a capable Chinese cook. Thornton found the Deanes a congenial trio from the middle West and people after his own heart. Mr. Deane said that he could not expect much better luck than he had had, and that they were thinking of going back to Ohio before very long.

"Witch Hazel—wants to continue here—live our hermit life indefinitely," he ended with a smile at his daughter; "my wife has converted her—with promises of a winter in New York."

Hazel flushed to the roots of her glorious hair. "Do tell us about your map, Mr. Thornton—I am sure I know the very spot."

"Tell her, Thornton; if any one can find it she can—I call her 'Witch Hazel' because she seems to be able to find water as well as gold."

A week afterward Jim Thornton and Hazel stood beside an overturned boulder; below was a stone-lined hole in the ground filled with tin boxes—the golden hoard of Grandfather Thornton.

"You are a witch—Hazel," murmured Thornton. "You have bewitched me—if you can see into my heart." His eyes told the rest.

"I am sure I would discover—gold there!" whispered Witch Hazel with an adoring look in her eyes.

MORE WORK, NOT FIGHT, GREELEY'S ONLY REPLY TO DAUBS OF BLACK INK

(True Story of a Boy Editor)

It was his third day working at his first job, and there he stood, a lank, ill-clad, slouchy, unprepossessing youth of 14 years, with short pantaloons and no stockings at one end, and a thin whiny voice at the other. He was stooping over a case setting type.

Another boy in the shop thought of a good joke. He slipped up behind Horace Greeley and daubed his head, and neck four times with a big, black, sticky roller used to ink the type. The other printers stopped to see the fight. But Horace Greeley never looked up from his work.

Three years before, this same boy had walked eleven miles from his home on a farm at Amherst, N. H., to see a publisher who wanted a boy. "To young" he was told.

He went back to the farm and stayed a while longer. He read and re-read the twenty worn books in his home library. Then after three years he set out again and during the first week had the adventure of the ink-roller in the shop of The Northern Spectator at East Poultney, Vermont.

He had always been a student. He had read everything he could get. He was a champion speller. All these things helped him to advance rapidly as a printer. Within a few weeks he was the best workman in the shop. Gradually he took over some of the editorial duties, learning how to compose news articles as he set type, never writing them down.

Then, in 1831, when he was 20 years old, disaster came. The Northern Spectator failed in business. He was thrown out of work.

It was a misfortune that proved to be a blessing. If it had never happened Greeley might have been a poor country printer all his life. As it was, he decided to go to New York City. He walked most of the way.

He tramped the streets until he was penniless. Nobody had work for him. Finally one printer offered to let him set type for a very small Bible with many marginal Greek references. No one else would take such a provoking job. Greeley took and succeeded.

Thus started the career of Horace Greeley, the greatest newspaper man of his time, founder and editor of The New York Tribune.

OLD MAN PUZZLE

"What number of 3 figures multiplied by 4 will give exactly 5?"

"Oh, give me a hard one—I know a number of 4 figures which, when multiplied by 10 gives exactly ½!"

(Answer to yesterday's: If I bought turkeys for $5.00 each, geese for $2.50, and chickens for such a ridiculously low price as 10 cents, then, in order to buy exactly 100 fowls with $100.00, I would have to order 12 turkeys, 13 geese and 75 chickens.)

STUDY HELPS

Thousands of Short Stories.

Short stories are interesting.

No wonder the old lady was surprised that the boys and girls do not read the dictionary more. "I like it because the stories are so short," she said.

A clever young fellow, invited to a party, was tipped off in advance that there would be a flag-guessing contest. He remembered that his big dictionary had pictures of flags of all nations, so he studied up in advance. Of course, he won the prize, but like a true sport, admitted what he had done and refused to take it.

How many fellows would ever have thought that a big dictionary would help in such a case?

The other day, a girl wrote a story about Joshua Reynolds, famous English artist. The story did not tell when he lived.

"Why don't you look up the dates of his life in the biographical dictionary in the back of the big dictionary?" her teacher asked. "I didn't know there was one," exclaimed the surprised student.

It took only a minute to find it: "Reynolds, Joshua, Sir, English portrait painter, 1723—1792."

Did you know that in the back of the big dictionary there is also a geographical dictionary where you can look up the name of any city, state or country that perplexes you in geography?

"SHE'S A REAL TOMBOY" SAYS MOTHER OF 12-YR. GIRL ENTERING COLLEGE

(True Story)

Imagine a little nine-year-old girl in New York City, changing from one school to another and skipping three grades while doing it!

Lucky!

Yes, perhaps, but more than lucky. It was three years ago that Helen Koch, 755 Dawson Street, New York City, did this. Now, when twelve years old, she is entering Hunter College for Women in her big home city.

When a girl can go through school at Helen's speed it is almost foolish to wonder what her best subject is. She surely must be good at all of them. Helen is, but she is best in arithmetic and mathematics.

Girls, who are a little dumb in 'rithmetic are usually excused because "It's not a girl's subject."

"Very well," says Helen's mother, "she really is a little tomboy. She likes all kinds of sports and plays just as hard as she studies."

BOYHOOD STORIES OF FAMOUS MEN

Sir Joshua Reynolds

Gathered about the tavern in Plympton, England, was a crowd of people intent on watching a man make silhouettes.

Joshua on his way home from school stopped to watch the man, and after a few minutes asked if he could try his hand. Mr. Warnawell, the black paper artist, said: "I can't afford to lose the six pences of any who are waiting for their silhouettes, sonny, but tonight, when all my customers have gone, I'll show you how 'tis done."

After supper the boy went back to the tavern, and his likenesses were so good that Mr. Warnawell hired him as a helper. He saw that the boy had talent, so he urged one of his wealthy patrons to send him to London, where he could learn to paint pictures in oil.

This was the beginning of a great career for Sir Joshua Reynolds (1723-1792). He became the foremost portrait painter in Europe.

What is that great man who is allowed to sit before a queen with his hat on?
(Answer to yesterday's: Ramie is like a fox because it get Hungary and wanted Turkey.)

CLEVELAND TAKES ONE FROM DETROIT LOSES THE SECOND

Makes Sure of Tie for Pennant by Dividing With Detroit While Chicago Loses

WHITE SOX LOSE TO ST. LOUIS 6 TO 8

Washington Easy Winner Over Philadelphia

DETROIT — Cleveland, fighting for the American league pennant, made certain of at least a tie by dividing a double header with Detroit while Chicago was losing to St. Louis on Friday.

The visitors lost the first game, 5 to 4, when in the tenth Shortstop Sewell threw Flagstead's grounder into the Cleveland dugout and Pinelli followed with a clean single. The Indians' victory in the second game was a decisive one, the score being 10 to 3. Fifteen Cleveland hits, six [illegible] them for extra bases, and four [illegible] errors, contributed to the re[illegible] league leaders scoring in every inning but the second.

DODGERS DIVIDE DOUBLE HEADER WITH NEW YORK

Score in Both Games is Four to Three With Brooklyn Winning in Ninth

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—New York and Brooklyn divided a double header on Friday, the score in each contest being 4 to 3. Douglas of New York pitched fine ball for seven innings of the first game during which the Superbas failed to get a man to first. They tied New York's three run lead in the eighth, assisted by Krueger's home run, and won in the ninth.

In the second game Brooklyn scored three runs in the second inning and after the third got only one man to first. Scores:

KEELER'S FOOTBALL CREW OFF FOR ST. PAUL TO OPEN SEASON WITH ST. THOMAS

Coach "Tubby" Keeler and his crew of Normal School footballers left this morning for St. Paul where they will open the season with St. Thomas this afternoon. The game with St. Thomas has always been a hard fought contest, and next to Milwaukee, the one the Normalites are most desirous of winning. The game this year promises to be one of the hardest fought of the seanson. St. Thomas has many of her old men back and reports from St. Paul indicate that they are as strong as ever. Though defeated last year by a score of 19-7, the locals left with the determination to start the season by evening up old scores.

The following men made the trip: Captain Schrader, Yeager, Royal, Reget, Miller, Rippe, Dahlgren, Jongs, Lewis, Oyen, Wilke, Bunge, Shick, Kevin, McCormick, Warren, Engelke, Perosik, Wolfe, Thompson and Baudin.

SCHEDULES ELKS' BOWLING LEAGUES

Something like 120 bowlers will start next Tuesday on a 21-week tournament to decide the championship of the Elks' club. The number entered on the sixteen teams which have been organized is half as many more as rolled in the successful tourney last year, and the tournament is so large that the games will be divided between the Lotus and La Crosse club alleys.

The teams have been divided into two eight-squad leagues, and the finish of the season will be matches between the winners and runners-up in each league.

The schedules of the first round were announced today as follows:

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 2.—The Chicago White Sox had only a fighting chance for the American league pennant today as they went into the second game of the series with St. Louis. Trailing Cleveland by two games, the lone hope of the Sox lay in capturing both contests here, which would allow them to pull up on even terms with the Indians if the latter dropped their final pair at Detroit.

ALESSANDRI DECLARED SANTIAGO PRESIDENT

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 2 — The court of honor which has been considering the claims to the presidency of Arturo Alessandri, nominee of the liberal alliance, and Luis Barros Borgono, candidate of the liberal unionists, today decided by a vote of five to two that Senor Alessandri is entitled to the presidency. The court held that Senor Alessandri received 177 electoral votes and Senor Borgono 176.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 2.—Bobby Jones, Atlanta amateur, and Jim Barnes, St. Louis professional, were tied for the lead when play was resumed here today in the Southern Open Golf tournament. Both had 156 for the first two rounds. The championship will be decided today.

CARDINAL TEAM MEETS LAWRENCE IN OPENER TODAY

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 2.—Championship football in the Western conference started today when seven of the Big Ten teams were scheduled to play. Iowa and Indiana at Bloomington were the first and only elevens of the group to battle with a bearing on the conference title.

Minnesota, suffering from adverse faculty rulings eliminating three star players, declared ineligible, was scheduled with North Dakota at Minneapolis.

The Purple was not expected to show much of an "open attack," as Coach McDevitt intended to uncover just enough to win in the Northwestern-Knox game at Evanston. The former eleven plays Minnesota one week from today.

Wisconsin's match with Lawrence at Madison presented a number of veterans on both teams. Coach John Richards was out to show the scrappy Lawrence eleven of Appleton, Wis., that the Badgers would be championship contenders. Following today's game, the Badgers will meet the Michigan Aggies at Wisconsin. These two struggles, it was thought, should fit Wisconsin for its first conference game with Northwestern at Madison, October 16.

Ohio State met with Ohio Wesleyan at Columbus.

Depauw was Purdue's opponent at Lafayette in the Boilermaker's opening clash. Purdue meets Chicago next Saturday.

Illinois, 1919 conference champion, Chicago, and Michigan had no games scheduled today, but will go into action next Saturday.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Leading Eastern colleges and universities today plunged into the football season in earnest, most of them meeting teams that promised to reveal something of their gridiron calibre. Although the season opened last Saturday, many of the teams on which eyes will be focussed made their debut today.

These include Yale, Princeton, Cornell, Colgate, Army, Navy, Columbia and Pittsburgh.

The Cadets offer a gridiron novelty in the form of a football doubleheader playing both the Union college and Marshall college teams in turn at West Point. Princeton faced Swarthmore, while Yale had Carnegie Tech. as an opponent. Cornell met Rochester, while Columbia opened against Trinity. Other games included:

Brown vs. Amherst; Colgate vs. Susquehanna; Columbia vs. Trinity; Geneva vs. Pittsburgh; Dartmouth vs. Norwich; Harvard vs. Maine; Penn State vs. Gettysburg; Syracuse vs. Vermont; Tufts vs. Bowdoin; Navy vs. North Carolina; Army vs Union, Marshall.

The Screen

AT THE THEATER TODAY

Rivoli—Charles Ray in "45 Minutes From Broadway."
Majestic—Constance Talmadge in "The Love Expert."
Bijou—Alice Joyce in "The Vengeance of Durand."
Casino—Mary MacLaren in "The Unpainted Woman."
Strand—Pauline Frederick in "The Paliser Case."
Strand—Norma Talmadge in "The Daughter of Two Worlds."

RIVOLI

When George M. Cohan wrote "45 Minutes From Broadway," his tremendously popular comedy drama a picturization of which is now playing at the Rivoli with Charles Ray as the star, it was his avowed intention to write the best play of his career. And when it was produced and later received, after eight years, Mr. Cohan declared he had succeeded in his purpose. The other day after witnessing Charles Ray as Kid Burns in his version of the play, he said, "I certainly wrote a masterpiece, I think Charles Ray's characterization of the part is perfect."

A "Torchy" comedy, Bray scenic, and "Topics of the Day" complete the program.

RIALTO

Norma Talmadge returns once again to La Crosse in "The Daughter of Two Worlds." This picture caused some sensation on a recent visit to our city and no doubt some people will welcome it back.

MAJESTIC

Constance Talmadge is sure the "Czar of Loveland" now. "The Love Expert," shows this popular star as the Dunn and Bradstreet of Loveland. She has the brightest role of her career in which she has a chance to use some of that superfluous energy, that she has. The story is full of pep and surprises from start to finish.

The Beyerstedt's play some of those syncopating tunes that harmonize nicely with the picture. A pleasing show.

CASINO

Mary MacLaren in "The Unpainted Woman," played to packed houses yesterday. Miss MacLaren, who by the way is a sister to Katherine MacDonald, does some exceptionally fine work in this picture. There is absolutely no trace in the sameness of the acting of the two girls, even if they are sisters. Miss MacLaren plays the role of an innocent girl who wants to lead the straight life, but is tempted on all sides. She wins but not not without a struggle. "She Loved a Nut" a comedy completes the bill.

BIJOU

Alice Joyce does the best work of her career, in "The Vengeance of Durand," that opened at the Bijou yesterday. There is an exceptionally strong cast, and the idea carried out by the author in his book, is brought out very forceably in the picture. The story is based on jealousy, and shows its harm when it creeps into the lives of a young married couple without cause. "Watch Your Step Mother," a Christie comedy completes the bill.

STRAND

Pauline Frederick in the celebrated mystery drama "The Paliser Case," is at the Strand today. This picture is full of thrills and surprises. It all concerns the murder of Monte Paliser, Three confess the crime, one did it. It all ends the way we would like to have it end. Episode 10 of the "Evil Eye," completes the bill.

CIVILIAN TRIBUNAL TO RULE BASEBALL IS PLAN OF CLUBS

Four Big League Clubs in Movement to Clean Up Organized Baseball

PROPOSE TO ABOLISH NATIONAL COMMISSION

"Cannot be Impartial" is Criticism of Ruling Body

CHICAGO—Representatives of four major league baseball clubs on Friday night started a movement designed to "clean up baseball forever" by taking control of the game out of the hands of men financially interested and placing it under a "civilian tribunal" to be composed of men of "unquestioned public standing."

A letter was sent to every major league club and dozens of others interested asking their approval of the plan which was characterized as a means of "giving professional baseball to the American people—where it belongs—and taking ownership of it away from club owners and players."

The letter was signed by William Veeck, president of the Chicago National League club; Charles A. Comiskey, president of the Chicago American League club; Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburg club, and John J. McGraw, vice president and manager of the New York National League club.

It proposes that the national commission be abolished because " in its present form, it cannot be impartial" and that in its place there should be a tribunal whose members would receive higher salaries than any one now connected with baseball. Gen. Pershing, Major Gen. Leonard Wood, Former President William Howard Taft, Senator Hiram W. Johnson, Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, and William Gibbs McAdoo are some of the men proposed for the tribunal, but the letter adds that none has yet been approached on the subject.

High salaries paid members of the Tribunal and leagues, club owners, players and every other person, act or thing connected with baseball.

"The mere knowledge of control of baseball by such men would insure that the public interests would be first served and that, therefore, all existing evils would disappear.

"Everyone connected with baseball would be absolutely under control of this tribunal. If an owner committed an unethical act, the tribunal could reprimand him, fine him, or even revoke his franchise.

"Likewise, it would be empowered to establish a proper relationship between minor and major leagues. The conduct of the player upon the field, the rules governing the game also will be subject to the final and arbitrary review and dictatum of the tribunal. It is unthinkable that in such an environment and under such supervision, anything unclean or unsportsmanlike could even remotely creep into the national game."

The letter requests club owners to sign an enclosed memorandum and return it to President Veeck.

MORE G. O. P. CHARGES ARE DENIED BY WHITE

Declares Republicans are Living in Atmosphere of Mis-Statement

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Denial of the published charges of former President W. H. Taft that Governor Cox "attacks the Associated Press for failing to give to the public a fair account of his speeches, the crowds and other phases of his long tour," was made here yesterday by George White, chairman of the democratic national committee.

His statement follows:

"It seems to be in the atmosphere of the republican party to make misstatements. Some of them are deliberate; some based on ignorance. Charity inclines me to the belief that the latter was responsible for an assertion by Mr. Taft in an article published this morning that Governor Cox attacks the Asociated Press for failing to give to the public a fair account of his speeches, the crowds and other phases of his long tour.

"Of course Governor Cox did no such thing. He did accuse Chairman Hays of the republican national committee of sending two scouts along his route to urge the republican newspapers in the west—in many places successfully—to suppress the news locally. The Albuquerque (N. M.) Journal, a republican newspaper, admitted the truth of this.

"Not one of us connected with the democratic campaign has the slightest complaint of the Associated Press or any reputable press association. They have given us a perfectly fair deal.

"They supply the news to papers, but they cannot compel them to print it. Mr. Taft has simply caught the contagion of mis-statement, that is all.

"Perhaps he has caught it from Charles E. Hughes, who recently accused the government of 'surrendering vital American principles and interests,' and then turned to the paid defense of Truman Newberry of Michigan, whose tainted vote organized the senate, packed the committee of foreign relations, and made possible the obstruction of the peace of the world."

PONZI INDICTED

BOSTON, Oct. 2 — The federal grand jury indicted Charles Ponzi, promoter of the scheme by which millions of dollars were obtained from investors on promises to pay fifty percent profits, for using the mails in a scheme to defraud. The indictments of which there were two of 43 counts each, were the longest returned here in years. Ponzi now is a federal prisoner at the East Cambridge jail and is under indictment also by state courts for larceny.

Was Not Matter of Love

As the Londoner sat in the village inn, drinking a modest pint and chatting with the local residents, he got on the subject of married life. He advanced the opinion that true happiness was more often to be found in the peaceful country than amid the turmoil of a town.

"Well, I ain't so sure about that," said one old chap. "But I do know as I sat here last night and held my old woman's hands for two hours by the clock."

"There!" said the visitor in triumph. "That upholds my argument, and shows how much you love her!"

"Love her!" gasped the old chap. "Why, if I'd 'a'dder go, she's 'ave scratched my bloomin' eyes out!"—London Answers.

NO REDUCTION IN DODGE AUTO PRICES

Company Announces Through Local Dealers That it Has Always Given Full Value

Official confirmation of press dispatches from Detroit, announcing that there would be no reduction in the price of Dodge Brothers Motor Cars, has been received by The Cameron Motor Car Co. the Dodge Brothers dealer in this city. A telegram from C. W. Matheson, acting general manager to the local dealer, reads:

"Dodge Brothers policy has ever been to give full value for the price asked. There will be no reduction in the present prices of Dodge Brothers motor cars. Newspaper reports to the contrary are absolutely untrue."

"Dodge Brothers announcement was no surprise to us," said Mr. Cameron "In fact it is only a substantiation of Dodge Brothers business principles. At no time have they ever demanded an excess amount for their product. As in the past, they will continue in the future to demand a fair return for their efforts."

"The mere fact that the demand for Dodge Brothers motor cars is still greater than the supply, despite the great expansion program at the factory, has absolutely nothing to do with the decision to continue the present prices. In marketing their car Dodge Brothers have never made a point of price and will never sacrifice the quality of their product to enter price competition."

HELIUM FROM NATURAL GAS

Up to a little more than a year ago helium was a laboratory product made at a cost of from $1,500 to $2,000 per cubic foot but toward the close of the war its production had been simplified to the point that $.000 cubic feet per day was produced in Texas alone.

The commercial production of helium has been stimulated by the need of a substitute for hydorgen, which is so highly inflammable that its value for military purposes in dirigibles and kite balloons is gravely impaired. Although the substitution of helium for this purpose entails a loss of 7 per cent in lifting power, this is more than compensated for by the elimination of all risk of fire and explosion. Helium suffers less loss by diffusion than hydrogen and cannot be made to burn or explode under any conditions.

JUDGE HAD HIS OWN "VIEW"

FRANKFORT, Ky.—W. T. Fowler, first assistant attorney general, has just rendered a decision holding a judge could have his own "view" on a case. A man arrested for violating a traffic ordinance in Versailles, Ky., appealed. In the court the defendant denied charges of the prosecution. The judge held him guilty, saying "I have my own views on the subject, since I happened to see you at the time."

The Electric Soldering Iron

Workmen having occasion to do many soldering operations find their work is greatly hastened and the character improved by the use of the electric soldering iron. The workman's patience has been tried by the awkward types heated in a gas flame of fuel-burning muffle which required frequent reheating on account of rapid cooling from radiation.

The electric iron remains hot as long as required and the point is calorized as a protection against oxidation. The handle is a spiral of heavy wire, which gives flexibility and balance and at the same time a firm connection to the copper section. A guard ring where it joins the tip raises the heated part in air when the iron is laid down and prevents it from setting fire to anything. It can be connected with any lighting circuit.

"THIRD DEGREE" IN FORCE HERE SAYS UNDERWOOD

Map Salesman Released in Court Today May Demand Police Probe

DAMAGE SUITS AGAINST LOCAL MEN MAY RESULT

Map Company Prepared to Back Agent's Case

J. D. Underwood, representative of a map concern, arrested here upon complaint of George P. Bump of the Bump Paper Fastener Co., charged with securing money under false pretenses, was discharged after a preliminary examination before County Judge John Brindley this morning.

In discharging Underwood who was defended by Attorney John F. Doherty, Judge Brindley said there was absolutely no testimony to substantiate the charge that he had misrepresented road maps of Wisconsin which he sold to local people.

Underwood, whose father, D. J. Underwood, is an Illinois attorney and came here to assist his son, declared immediately after his discharge this morning that he will demand an investigation of the "third degree" methods of the night force of the La Crosse police department.

"This man Bump got out a warrant for my arrest at night and the police took me out of bed at the Y. M. C. A. at 1 o'clock in the morning, threw me into a cell, refusing to let me furnish bail, despite the fact I had sufficient cash in my pocket.

"Shortly after I was thrown into a cell they let a local man into cell room, under the pretense that he was drunk, in an attempt to have me confess I was a crook.

"It was not until 4 o'clock the afternoon of the next day that I was permitted to wire my company at Indianapolis and it was not until they wired back that they would hold parties arresting me responsible, was I allowed to get in touch with an attorney.

"The county judge, before whom Bump swore out his complaint, was responsible for my release, ordering that I be allowed to give bond as soon as the facts were presented to him.

"The action stopping payment on checks in my favor has been rescinded by the over-zealous official of the local bank but my attorney is investigating the question of liability for whatever part he may have played in my arrest and unwarranted treatment."

E. A. Peterson, head of the National Map company, the concern employing Underwood, is in the city and says he is prepared to back his agent in the fault in securing redress for any misrepresentation of facts concerning agents activity, or for his unwarranted arrest and imprisonment.

fell unconscious and was found at noon by passing autoists.

She was taken to the office of Dr. Parke in the village and later removed to her home, three miles east of Viola.

Took Girl's Lunch

Ruth said the man took her dinner pail away from her before striking her on the head. She was not certain whether he hit her with the dinner pail or some other instrument. The dinner pail was not found near the scene of the assault, and it is believed the man carried the lunch with him.

The child said she had seen the man before, passing the school house. He was described as a man with a week's growth of beard on his face, of medium height, wearing khaki overalls, a black slouch hat and dark coat.

No one in the neighborhood knew of a man of that description living in that locality.

Shortly after word of the assault went out in the farming community, farmers and villagers ceased work and started in pursuit of the moron. Calls to neighboring cities for bloodhounds brought two dogs by automobile from Mauston. The animals reached Viola at 4 o'clock and at 4:15 took the scent at the culvert where the girl was assaulted, after circling across the road and through cornfields for a few minutes. Finally starting out on a straight trail the dogs led the two posses, headed by District Atorney Elber Brindley and Sheriff Stry, in a southerly direction until, late in the afternoon, the trail was lost for a time in a swamp.

Working South of Viola

During the night the dogs relocated trail, and daybreak today found the posses working ten miles southeast of Viola, and seven miles from the scene of the assault, and still headed southward.

Thirty men remained in the posses during the night and were still on the trail this morning, more determined than ever to capture the man who committed the most fiendish assault in the history of Richland county.

At 10 o'clock this morning Marshal J. H. Smith of Viola received a telephone message announcing that a man answering the description of Ruth Barkley's assailant had boarded a west bound passenger train on the Prairie du Chien division of the Milwaukee road this morning.

Immediately word went out to officers at points west of Muscoda to intercept the train and arrest the suspect.

DANISH SCIENTIST CLAIMS NORWEGIAN EXPLORER JON SKOLP CAME TO AMERICA SIXTEEN YEARS AHEAD OF COLUMBUS

WASHINGTON, — How many persons discovered America before Christopher Columbus?

The latest addition to the line of claimants is Jon Skolp, a Norwegian explorer. Sofus Larsen, a Danish scientist who has recently made a report founded on researches of archives of the middle ages, has completed a work which he says proves that Skolp, the Norwegian, "rediscovered America" in 1476, 16 years ahead of Columbus and twenty years before John Cabot reached the Strait of Hudson.

Larsen uses term "rediscovered" considering that the original discoverer was Leif Ericksson the Norseman in the year 1000. Larsen's researches develop, he says, that about 1475 the King of Portugal sent a message to the King of Denmark and Norway, Christian I, requesting him to fit out an expidition and attempt to find a sea passage to Asia, in reality a Northwest passage. An old document to that effect was found in the Danish state-archives. The expedition was headed by the Norwegian-German privareer, Captain Didrik Pining and piloted by the Norwegian pilot Jon Skolp to whom credit is given for having reached as far as Labrador and found part of the actual entrance to the Northwest passage.

In an old Spanish geographical work on America, first published in 1552 by Francesco Lopez de Gomara, a priest of Sevilla, it is mentioned that Labrador was reached for the first time by Norwegian sailors, piloted by John Scolvus. (Jon Skolp.) This information was first made public by the Norwegian professor of history Gustav Storm in 1886. But at that time this part of the history of the discoveries was still in its infancy, and isolated as it was then, the information naturally had to be used with great caution. Later on new material was found pointing in the same direction. One of the sources was a famous globe, dating from 1537 and made by the Dutch physician and mathematician, Gemma Frisius, who points out that North America was reached in 1476 by Johannes Scolvus.

Johannes Scolvus is a name unknown in Norwegian history. Dr. Larsen connects it with the Norwegian surname Skolp, which means a man from the shores or fishing places of northern Norway. His deed became famous in his own times, but on account of various conditions not traceable now, it was veiled in obscurity and forgotten. The account of his voyage undoubtedly has been of significance to other expeditions, Norwegian as well as English and Portuguese. Dr. Fridtj of Nansen in one of his scientific works has proved that even 100 years later English explorers were familiar with the expedition of Johannes Skolp, namely when preparing for Martin Frobisher's travel to Greenland in 1576.

CODY PRESIDENT OF RESCUE BOARD FOR COMING YEAR

Annual Meeting of the Mission Held at the Institution in Pearl Street

Dr. C. M. Cody was elected president of the La Crosse Rescue Mission at the annual meeting of the board of trustees held at the Institution. Other officers were elected as follows: Vice president, W. F. Goodrich, secretary and treasurer, George E. Krause.

Sunday, October 31 will be "Rescue Mission Sunday" in the churches of the city. On that day the financial campaign to furnish funds to support the mission will be launched.

Superintendent D. C. Dewey spoke at a Sunday school convention held in the Baptist church at Mound Prairie Tuesday night.

DISCONTINUANCE OF RIVER LIGHTS ONLY SEASONAL PROGRAM

Capt. Thompson Allays Fears Night Marking Was to be Done Away With

Captain W. A. Thompson, U. S. Government engineer for this district, today allayed fears that the system of lights on the upper river is to be discontinued.

Captain Thompson said the picking up of the light buoys will not be accomplished before November 1 and that the abandonment of the lighting system is only temporary during the winter months.

The attention of the Chamber of Commerce had been called to the matter and at a meeting of the Board of Directors yesterday afternoon the matter was referred to W. V. Kidder of the local boat club.

Many protested what they supposed to be a plan for the abandonment of upper river lighting on the grounds that both pleasure and commercial craft would be unable to navigate in the darkness.

HEAT FLATS OR FACE PRISON SENTENCE IS WORD TO LANDLORDS

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 2.—Landlords who fail properly to heat their flat buildings will face prison sentences, and in cases where death results from improper heating murder charges will be asked of the grand jury against the owners, City Health Commissioner Robertson announced after 53 complaints of cold apartments were lodged in his department.

TRINITY GRAVEYARD BECOMES POPULAR NOON "LUNCHROOM"

NEW YORK—"Where you eatin' today?" asks Tillie, who sells ribbons, to her girl-friend in the glove department. Back floats the answer: "Trinity Graveyard."

Oh, my yes! Everybody's taking the old lunch bucket [illegible] these days to beat H. C. L. and a comfortable grave with a nice marble stone for a back rest is a prize. Here we find Miss Ida Schnurr cutting the cost of living with Miss Madge Kuecke by consuming luncheon in Trinity's marble orchard.

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS — A VERY REALISTIC DREAM — BY ALLMAN

COX ON LAST LAP OF CAMPAIGN TRIP THROUGH THE WEST

League of Nations Discussed by Democratic Standard Bearer in Missouri

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 2—Governor Cox, presidential nominee, came back into Missouri today for what was the last lap of his long western trip.

In his speeches at Miami, Oklahoma, and at Joplin today, Governor Cox discussed the humanitarian provisions of the league of nations, asserting that "the profiteers of peace" are opposed to it because it prevents them from "exploiration of humanity in sweat-shops and insanitary factories."

The governor said: "Under Article twenty-three the members of the league agree to maintain fair and just conditions of labor for men, women and children, to co-operate in prevention of communicable, contagious and vocational diseases; to prohibit exploitation of women and children, and to control the traffic in opium and other dangerous drugs.

"You will find the munition profiteer is opposed to the league because it provides for disarmament, making future wars impossible, so he cannot coin dollars out of blood. You will find the profiteers of peace opposed to the league because of Article twenty-three which prevents him from exploitation of humanity in sweat-shops and insanitary factories. He will not admit this as his reason but probably will join, in general clamor against Article ten."

THOMPSON PAPERS AS INDEPENDENT ON FILE TONIGHT?

central committee," said Alvin B. Peterson, chairman, after the organization meeting of that body in the Republican house on Friday.

"So effective have women been in campaign work thus early in the period of their enfranchisement that the committee chose women as its secretary and treasurer, and also, following a suggestion from national republican headquarters, elected a woman as vice chairman of the committee. We will now take up the work of the campaign in earnest, the aim being to win for all republican candidates."

Two Women Chosen

Mrs. W. H. Wendt of Milwaukee was elected secretary of the committee after a spirited contest in which the only factional lines of the meeting were drawn.

Miss Katherine Williams of Milwaukee, a defeated candidate for the secretaryship, was elected treasurer without opposition. It was suggested that since the vote for secretary had developed so spirited a contest between two women, it would be graceful and contribute to harmony to hand the next office to the defeated candidate. No one appeared to want a ballot, although Dwight T. Parker, Sol Levitan and Francis Davidson had been up to that moment understood to be the candidates for treasurer.

The suggestion of the national committee that a woman be named as vice chairman resulted in the election of Mrs. Henry Youmans of Waukesha, by acclamation.

Ready With Speeches—Barred

The nearest approach to heated controversy came when J. W. Car[illegible] of Ladysmith moved that state [illegible] nominees who might be within [illegible] be invited to address the committee. Mr. Blaine, nominee for governor, and W. J. Morgan, nominee for attorney general, the first named indorsee of the Nonpartisan [illegible] and the latter a bitter crusader against that political organization, were near at hand, and both indicated that they expected to be called upon to address the committee.

Sol Levitan pleaded against bringing in the candidates. He argued that this would only open the door to factional bitterness. He told of working for the republican party since the days of Abraham Lincoln, and it was always a case of all working together for all the republican nominees.

"I ran for state treasurer," he said "and they called me a free lover and a bolshevist and a socialist and nonpartisan. Let's not have any one split this thing up, but let us all fight for Harding and Coolidge and all the rest of the republicans."

The motion to invite the candidates was withdrawn, and Messrs. Blaine and Morgan soon left the hotel.

MOTORCYCLISTS TO JOIN IN PICNIC AT WATERLOO BRIDGE

Invitation is issued to all motorcyclists in the city to join in a picnic to be given at the Waterloo Bridge on the North Salem road Sunday under the auspices of the Motorcycle club. Activities which begin at eleven o'clock, include baseball games and races of various sorts—sand race, hill climb, obstacle race, potato race and a race for the slow ones. Eats will be provided by the club.

MILWAUKEE HAS PERFECT RECORD FOR SAFETY WEEK

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 2.—The ninth annual safety congress and the Milwaukee safety week just closed here has been the most remarkable demonstration of what can be accomplished by safety effort in the whole history of the safety movement according to C. W. Price, general manager of the National Safety council. The records of Dr. F. N. Franklin, county coroner here, show that there has not been a single death due to accident in Milwaukee during the whole of safety week, as against an average of seven during the rest of the year.

Buffalo, N. Y., St. Paul, Minn., and Cincinnati, Ohio are seeking the next congress. There is also a possibility that the next congress may be held in Atlantic City, according to officials of the council. The question will be decided by the executive committee in a month or two.

CO-ORDINATION MUST BE KEYNOTE OF U. S., DECLARES HARDING

"One for All and All for One" Should be Motto of Everyone said G. O. P. Leader

WEST JEFFERSON, O., Oct. 2—Advocating an agricultural and industrial policy to co-ordinate American resources for the common good, Senator Harding declared in a speech at a republican rally today that "one for all and all for one" must be the motto of individual effort if the nation is to achieve its full potentialities.

"I want to see American life so knit together," he said, "that we will go forward to weave a great and humane pattern of United Americanism."

Appealing for betterment of the condition of the farmer, the nominee asserted agricultural production was of greater interest to those in the cities than to the farmers. On the part of the same community of interest, he said, transportation facilities must be stabilized and a rehabilitated railway system supplemented by inland waterway development and by commercial use of motor trucks to carry freight.

Discussing rural education, Mr. Harding spoke a word for the education of adults in current events, and asserted that such a movement would constitute "the true bulwark against extreme radicalism."

"We must see to it," he said, "that we raise the standards of rural education. We have just awakened to the fact that the education of the American child everywhere has fallen below the standard necessary for the protection of our future. We have had to face the fact that our school teachers are underpaid."

DEWEY'S SON HURT IN COLLISION AT FOURTH AND CASS

Chester Dewey, son of Superintendent D. C. Dewey of the Rescue Mission, was painfully injured when his bicycle collided with an automobile driven by J. P. Ganstad of Houston at Fourth and Cass streets. Chester sustained cuts on the head and right hand, a bruised arm and bruises on the body.

BADGER STATE RETAINS RANK AS THIRTEENTH

state has been below that for the country as whole, namely 1900-10 and 1870-80. From 1860 to 1910, however, the difference between the two rates was not exceptionally large, the greatest difference being for that of the decade 1860-70 and the smallest difference that for the decade 1890-1900. During the 50-year period the population of the United States increased a little less than three times, while that of the state increased a little more than three times. During the preceding 20 years, 1840 to 1860, the state increased in population far more rapidly than the United States, the population of the state increasing more than twenty-five times, while that of the country as a whole nearly doubled.

KENTUCKY FOR DEMOCRATS DECLARES ROOSEVELT

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 2—Judged by the tremendous crowds that greeted him yesterday in Mount Sterling, Lexington, Frankfort, and Louisville, Franklin D. Rosevelt, democratic nominee for vice president, said today he was confident "Kentucky will be found this November in the democratic and victory column."

He will close his Kentucky tour at Bowling Green this evening and then will go to Terre Haute, Ind.

LEGAL NOTICES

IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA in the District Court for the Western District of Wisconsin:
In the matters of Lafayette Galland, Bankrupt,

To the Hon. A. L. Sanborn, judge of the District Court of the United States for the western district of Wisconsin:

Lafayette Galland, of the town of Mead, in the County of Clark, and State of Wisconsin, in said District, respectfully represents that on the 10th day of August, A. D. 1920, last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt, under the acts of Congress relating to Bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and right of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts, and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore he prays he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge, from all his debts provable against his estate under said bankrupt acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 25th day of September, A. D. 1920. LAFAYETTE GALLAND, Bankrupt.

Order of Notice Thereon

Western District of Wisconsin—ss.

On the 1st day of October, A. D. 1920, on reading the foregoing petition, it is Ordered by the court that a hearing be had on the same on the 2nd day of November, A. D. 1920, before said court at La Crosse, in said district, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, and that notice thereof be published in the La Crosse Tribune and Leader-Press, a newspaper published in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayers of said petitioner, should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the court that the clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

Witness, the Hon. A. L. Sanborn, Judge of the said Court, and the seal thereof at La Crosse, in said district, on the 1st day of October, A. D. 1920.

STATEMENT OF OWNERSHIP

STATEMENT of Ownership, Management, Circulation, Etc., Required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of The La Crosse Tribune and Leader-Press, published daily and Sunday, at La Crosse, Wisconsin, for Oct. 1, 1920.

State of Wisconsin, County of La Crosse—ss.

Before me, a Notary Public in and for the state and county aforesaid, personally appeared Frank H. Burgess, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Business Manager of The La Crosse Tribune and Leader-Press, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to-wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the editor, managing editor, and business manager are:
Editor, A. M. Brayton, Madison, Wis.
Managing Editor, Mark R. Byers, La Crosse, Wis.
Business Manager, F. H. Burgess, La Crosse, Wis.

2. That the owners are: The La Crosse Tribune Co.; E. P. Adler, Davenport, Iowa; Mrs. A. W. Lee, Washington, D. C.; A. M. Brayton, Madison, Wis.; M. C. Blade, Milwaukee, Wis.; F. H. Burgess, La Crosse, Wis.; C. K. Adler, Ottumwa, Iowa; W. R. March, Rock Island, Ill.; J. F. Powell, Ottumwa, Iowa; J. B. Sax, Ottumwa, Iowa; I. U. Sears, Madison, Wis.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: The La Crosse Trust Co., La Crosse, Wis.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

5. That the average number of copies of each issue of this publication sold or distributed through the mails or otherwise to paid subscribers during the six months preceding the date shown above are: Daily, 12,178; Sunday, 11,601.

FRANK H. BURGESS,

No Respecter of Persons

A Scotch policeman in London was keeping the crowd away in front of the houses of parliament. A stout, excited woman endeavored to pass, but he restrained her.

"I'm the wife of a cabinet minister," she insisted. "You must let me pass!"

The Scot eyed her unperturbed. "Madam, you couldna pass if ye were the wife of a Presbyterian meenister!"—Saturday Evening Post.

Gains of One to Three Points Record in Rails; Trading Is Heavy

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Trading during today's short session of the stock market favored the long account, bears covering in many of the industrial and special issues recently subjected to pressure. Rails were the central features, secondary or speculative shares making further gains of 1 to 2 points, while dividend payers, especially Pacifics and coalers rose 1 to 2½. A better undertone was shown by steels, equipments, oils, leathers and chemicals in which rallies ranged from 1 to 2 points. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 400,000 shares. Foreign exchange made no response to additional heavy gold imports but the bond market was firm to strong, especially in the railways.

Rails continued to advance at the opening of today's stock market with further irregularity in the general list. Wisconsin Central added 1½ points to its recent gain and Canadian Pacific and Chicago Northwestern rose one point each. St. Louis and San Francisco, Atlantic Coast Line and Baltimore and Ohio embraced the other firm to strong transportations. Sugars and oils made slight recoveries from their acute depression of the previous day, but steels and equipments were reactionary. Sears-Roebuck was conspicuous among the specialties for its four point decline.

WHEAT MARKET QUIET

Prices Show Little Change; Corn Rally Is Short-lived

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 2.—Trade in wheat was mostly of a local character today. There was some free selling by local traders with December showing little change from yesterday while March averaged higher. After starting ⅜c to 2c higher than yesterday's finish, with December $2.12½ to $2.15 and March $2.08½ to $2.09, prices fluctuated within relatively narrow range.

Wheat continued its downward trend until it reached a new low on the crop. The sentiment was generally bearish and at the finish prices were close to the bottom, with a range showing a net loss of 3¼c to 4¾c from yesterday's close with December $2.07 to $2.07½ and March $2.03 to $2.03¼.

Buying of corn by a strong commission house caused this cereal to advance slightly at the start. Initial quotations which ranged from ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher, with December 92⅝ to 93⅜, soon fell off when the buying stopped.

Buying against big bids checked the decline in corn after December and May had sold at a new low on the crop. At the finish, prices were off 2c to 3c from yesterday's finish, with December 90¼ to 90⅜c.

Oats were easy, the market starting unchanged to ⅛c higher with December 57⅝ to 57¾c, then became weak.

Provisions were higher as the result of the big decrease in local stocks in lard for the month.

The Chief Object

Set before you, as the chief object to be obtained, an end that is superior to any on earth—a desirable end, a perfect end. Labor to accomplish a work that shall survive unchanged and beautiful, when thrones of power and monuments of art shall have crumbled to ashes; aim to achieve something, which, when these mutable voices are hushed forever, shall live amid the songs and triumphs of immortality.—Elwin H. Chapin.

An Occasion

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself," observed the teacher to the small girl who had but too obviously omitted to wash her face that morning. "Look at your little brother; see how nice and clean he is."

The small girl sniffed.

"Well," she replied, "it's 'is birthday."—Chicago Examiner.

SHAVER PLANS FOR CHURCH PICTURES STARTING SUNDAY

First of Series of Travelogues Will be Presented at Presbyterian Church

A substitute for the "League of Nations will be suggested by the collection of stereopticon pictures to be given at the First Presbyterian church on Sunday evening. This is the first in a series of "travelogues" to be given by the pastor, Claude R. Shaver, during the Sunday evenings of the winter.

The lecture is entitled "By Hammer and Hand" and will show scenes from the school rooms of the church now located in every quarter of the globe, where such trades as wood turning, printing, black-smithing, agriculture, sewing and cooking are being taught along side the usual subjects both religious and secular education. It may be seen that the results of such leadership of the so called "heathen" peoples of the world will be to make them self reliant and cooperative; at the same time cultivating a spirit of neighborliness and international comity.

If uncultivated areas of the earth can be made fruitful and if idle and ignorant races can be led to know the satisfaction of mutual helpfulness in industry, there will be more of the necessities of life for everyone; hence less jealousy and strife in maintaining existence. Heathen leaders will appreciate the importance of intensive expansion rather than extensive: The latter having brought about most of the great wars of the world. "Peace on earth" as echoed in the first Christmas message was not an impossible dream, but a movement toward right relationship between men and nations. All of which the Church has been promoting quietly during the last century.

RACINE CLUBWOMAN NEW PRESIDENT OF STATE FEDERATION

SUPERIOR, Oct. 2.—Mrs. J. G. Chandler of Racine, Wis., was elected president of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs to succeed Mrs. H. S. Richards of Madison, who has held the position for the past term of two years. Mrs. Chandler was formerly first vice president of the federation.

Other officers announced at the session this morning were: Mrs. Joshua Hodgins, Marinette, first vice president; Mrs. J. O. Bach, Superior, second vice president; Mrs. R. E. Bundy, Menominee, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Peter Buell, Beaver Dam, treasurer; and Mrs. R. C. Murdock, Beloit, auditor.

PERSHING ACCEPTS FRENCH HONORS IN NAME OF U. S. ARMY

Medaille Militaire, Highest Honor in French Army, Bestowed on American General

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2—"In the name of the American army that fought in France," General Pershing yesterday accepted the award of the Medaille Militaire, the highest military decoration within the gift of the French government. The presentation was made at Fort Myer by the French general, Marie Fayolle, who commanded the first American troops that entered the firing line on the western front.

The parade ground presented a colorful picture, the French tri-color floating in union with the Stars and Stripes as General Pershing, an isolated figure in the center of the field, was approached by General Fayolle and the medal pinned on his breast.

Drawn up in single line behind General Fayolle were a score of allied military attaches, while in advance of these stood Secretary Baker Prince De Beran, the French charge d'affaires, and General March, chief of staff.

"It gives me the deepest pleasure," General Fayolle declared in presenting the medal, "to confer upon you as the commander-in-chief of the valiant American soldiers who fought in France, the highest decoration of my government."

Accepting the honor on behalf of the American army, General Pershing expressed his "deepest gratitude," adding that it was a "particular pleasure to receive the medaille militaire from the French general, who commanded the first American troops to enter the firing line in France."

Nash Prices Cannot Be Reduced

Because

They Have Never Been Inflated

There will be no reduction in the price of the Nash Six.

We think it only fair to state our policy plainly in justice to present Nash Six owners and those who contemplate purchasing this car.

Nash prices cannot be reduced because present prices represent the actual intrinsic value of the product plus a profit sufficient only to maintain manufacturing operations.

That is a plain statement of fact.

We cannot buy the high grade materials used in the Nash Six any cheaper.

We cannot buy the skilled labor employed in the making of the Nash Six any cheaper.

These two factors determine price. Until materials are lower or labor is lower, no one can manufacture such a car as the Nash Six for less money.

We say no one advisedly because here in this great plant covering 101 acres of ground and employing 5000 skilled workmen, manufacturing costs are reduced to their lowest level.

Here, the Nash Six is manufactured 93% in its entirety.

We have every advantage that large resources and a well established business afford—the purchase of raw materials on a big scale, perfected manufacturing processes and the distribution of costs over a large output.

This insures minimum production costs for each individual car.

That is why the Nash Six has always represented exceptionally high value.

The savings made by our manufacturing methods have been given to the buyer, keeping the price of this car at the lowest possible figure.

Consider this fact.

Since 1917, while prices of all commodities have been soaring, the price of the Nash Six has risen only 31%. Considering the addition of cord tires and other equipment as standard equipment, the actual increase has been only 24%.

During that time, the increased price of other motor cars shows an average rise of 76%.

The cost of living has risen 104%.

These figures show plainly that Nash manufacturing ability does make possible a car of exceptional value, and that Nash selling prices have always been kept low in accordance with our low production cost.

In view of price changes, actual and rumored, we welcome the opportunity to make this statement:

"That the Nash Six today represents more actual value, and is a bigger and better automobile than any other car within hundreds of dollars of its price."

That is our judgment and that it is the judgment of many thousands of motor buyers is evident in the widespread conviction that the Nash Six does represent value impressively above the average.

Under these unsettled conditions it is the only explanation of the fact that today the Nash Motors Company has thousands of unfilled orders on its books and that maximum production schedules are being maintained in our factory.

You may purchase the Nash Six with the assurance that today as always, you are buying a car of exceptional value.

You buy more power with the Nash Six due to its Perfected Valve-in-Head Motor.

You buy comfort and convenience beyond the ordinary.

You buy really exceptional beauty of design and finish.

And you buy a car with the high character of its performance proved beyond question.

A STATEMENT

Our policy has always been to give the consumer the best automobile and best truck we could build at the least possible cost. We have never asked a dollar more, simply because we could get it.

In view of the fact that there is no reduction today in the price of materials or labor entering into Nash products, and that there is no possibility of any reduction for some time to come that can substantially affect manufacturing costs, the policy of The Nash Motors Company will be to absolutely maintain its present prices on both passenger cars and trucks to at least July 1st, 1921.
